The DIMMER VIEW

Fun They Have Spending Our $$$

There is a philosophy in government that goes like this:

"Spending tax money is the most fun you can have without laughing!"

Three little-noted spendthrift items have hung in the minds of spending-watchers in recent months although none of them made headlines.

Unquestionably, these three could be multiplied by the thousands of greater rip-offs but there is just enough koky-ness in these to suggest that they not be allowed to fade into obscurity.

A very small part of the billions we pay to the Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) fund is being spent in San Diego. HEW gave the Western Behavioral Science Institute (WBSI) in La Jolla $108,280 to ascertain if or how any one of five events influenced the aging of 100 San Diego men. Events are: WWI and II; Great Depression; Korean War and the Vietnam War. Investigators will be looking for the social trauma that resulted from being 18-25 years of age during one of the five periods.

The results won't be earthshaking — just expensive.

Then there was that not-unreasonable requirement that new sidewalks and curbs should be sloped at intersections so that wheelchair users could cross under their own power. Later it was interpreted to include existing curbs and some ramps. The cost would be negligible.

But in Sacramento in November, if memory is precise, a ramp was constructed at the site of State Office Building No. 1. This one was from the building entrance to the street. A private contractor estimated that it should have cost about $1,000. Taxpayers forked over $36,000 for it. State Department of General Services explained that "The age of the building had a lot to do with it."

Also in November, after the election, then Treasury Secretary William Simon apparently felt that American taxpayers owed him a vacation. He was going out of office with the rest of the Gerald Ford appointees.

A trip to Russia or Mexico City would be just the thing. Or better, both! If taxpayers are to foot the bill, such trips must be official. But Simon had no invitation from the Soviets and was not a member of the delegation going to Mexico City in December for the inauguration of President Jose Lopez Portillo.

A Treasury source is quoted as saying that Simon had no invitation from the Soviets because he was on his way out and they preferred to talk to the Carter people. Simon pointedly was left off the list of the U.S. delegation accompanying Secretary of State Kissinger to the Mexican ceremonies.

The source quoted Simon as saying "Hell, I'm going anyway."

So the party included Simon's wife and two children, White House economic adviser William Siedman and his wife, 5 Treasury officials and their wives and 20 Secret Service bodyguards.

The cost! Only $131,500.

However, that is but a small bite of the $2 million Congressment spent on junkets last year. The money they spent was tax money. Each of the trips added a little bit to your tax cost when you pay your bill this year.

To cap off his trip with a touch of insolence, Treasury Secrectary Simon suggested to Ambassador Shirley Temple Black, chief of protocol at the State Department, that she permit him to keep the gifts he had cadged as a representative of the U.S. He told Black he wanted to keep the gifts as souvenirs. But each had a value of more than the maximum $50 limit so he was ordered to turn them in as required by law because they belong to the American people.

Included were a set of pistols, a Russian shotgun, two necklaces, a cigarette box, a porcelain sculpture, and a wristwatch presented to him by Leonid I. Brezhnev, the Soviet leader.

These are but 3 small items of cost among those that are a rip-off of American taxpayers. But they are more understandable than some of foreign charity giveaways.

What a place for the new administration to start to give credibility back to our tax collection processes.

'3 Best' Win Endorsement Of AFS for School Board

Three candidates — two of them women — have been endorsed by the Action for Schools committee as its choices for the March 8 school board election. None is incumbent.

Carol Chubb, 1909 La Corta, Victoria Morgan, 3202 Vista and Dave Spisak, 8301 Mt. Vernon won the committee's support after a week-long series of interviews with the ten candidates.

The endorsing committee is made up of teachers of the district staff with some private citizens helping with the interviews. Comprising the committee officials are Harry Weisgerber, chairman; Connie Hale, treasurer and John Winterhouse, secretary.

"The committee's decision on endorsement was difficult," said Chairman Weisgerber, "since each of the 10 candidates have strong personalities and good priorities for education. The community will have a hard decision to make on March 8. No matter who succeeds, our children will be the winners."

The A.F.S. committee said "Chubb, Morgan and Spisak, all long-time Lemon Grove residents with children in the school system, represent the very best in educational leadership, concern for children, and community identification for our schools that we can find. They will begin to attack the issues — for a more open communication with the citizenry; a more realistic approach to district transportation; a lessening of tensions over collective bargaining; a much more independent decision-making process in the board room; and a keen awareness of all monies spent."

"Chubb and Morgan bring a new dimension to the school board since the last woman trustee left in 1945. They are intelligent and analytical people capable of dealing with all the difficult problems the district faces", said Weisgerber. "Spisak also brings a fresh view to our educational process by way of being a lieutenant in the analysis section of the San Digeo Police Department."

Although the three endorsed candidates will continue to speak for themselves, the Action For Schools committee will add to their efforts through receptions, coffee klatches, campaign literature, media releases, telephoning and precinct contacts, it was said.

CHANGE THE STOP — Parents on Blackton dr. converged on the Lemon Grove School Board Tuesday night attempting to persuade the Board to change a bus stop from Massachusetts ave. to Blackton dr.

Presently the bus stop is 130 feet from the scene of the fatal traffic accident of two weeks ago at the 1400 block of Massachusetts.

Picured is some of the children who stand on on Massachusetts ave. each morning to meet the school bus. They dramatize what might happen to them waiting for their bus.

The Lemon Grove Board decided to further study the issue.

Citizens Demand Ban On Reservoir Building

Spring Valley residents have banded together to file suit against the County Board of Supervisors in an attempt to ban construction of a proposed real estate development on lands around the Sweetwater Reservoir.

Last Friday, January 21, the newly formed Spring Valley Concerned Citizens filed suit hoping to force the Board of Supervisors to change their minds.

The Board voted in December to zone the area around the Sweetwater Reservoir for single family dwellings.

Previously all 1300 acres of the land was marked for a regional park.

According to Mrs. Betty Lee, leader of the Citizens group, the Board "quietly" changed its mind on how the area was to be zoned.

The Board is now willing to to allow Vista del Lago Estates, a private land developer, to build 128 houses on 34.5 acres of Reservoir land.

Mrs. Lee said the County General Plan called for a park on the land, the voters in Spring Valley passed a bond referendum providing the funds, and the State okayed the project.

Now, according to Mrs. Lee, the Board has rezoned the land so that Vista del Lago Estates can build.

She explained the area around the Reservoir was already used for recreational purposes and many of the area children ride their horses there.

"Those houses just don't go with the neighborhood," she said.

Mrs. Lee explained a lot of the natural plant and animal life around the lake would be destroyed if the real estate project went up.

"The Environmental Review Board found some endangered barrel cactus in the area," she reinterated. "Our own study found some very endangered tar weed. I just don't see how the housing development is consistent with the environmental impact report."

Mrs. Lee added the citizens were also up in arms about property values in the area.

Most of the houses around here are in the $30,000 range," she explained, "If they come in here, build houses worth $50,000, our real estate values go down and our real estate taxes go up."

Water Use Drops In Helix District

Water use for the first half of the fiscal year, July 1 to December 31 has slowed down 5 per cent for last year.

Water use had been increasing at a four per cent annual rate for several years, however, starting in 1972 there has been a drop in the upward trend and the annual increase has averaged only 1.9 jer cent.

District officials said the population of the District for the six years ending December 1972 was increasing at an annual rate of four per cent while water use continued climbing at a 4 per cent rate. District engineers are projecting a long term annual increase of only 1.5 per cent.

This leveling of water use was attributed to several factors. One of the most important is that the cost of water has increased substantially in recent years due to general inflationary pressures and due to increases in the cost of energy to pump the water from the Colorado River and throughout the distribution system.

The public is becoming aware of the large amount of energy required to pump water over the mountains from the Colorado River and how much greater the costs are going to be to receive water from Northern California.

Moore Opens List For County Posts

County Supervisor Lucille V. Moore, Dist. 2, is appealing to citizens interested in serving on various County boards, commissions, and committees to submit applications to be considered for appointment.

"There are a dozen boards and commissions where vacancies currently exist or will exist soon as terms expire," Moore said.

"Service on these special committees represents grass roots participation in local government. I am asking those who are currently serving to continue in office even though their terms are expiring until they are reappointed or until replacements can be nominated."

Moore said application forms and information regarding the duties and qualifications for various commissions can be obtained by contacting her office at 1600 Pacific Highway, San Diego, telephone 236-2260, or her district office at Gillespie Field, 8160 Joe Crosson dr., Santee, telephone 449-5200. Applications can also be obtained from the County Citizen Participation Office, telephone 236-2722.

Vacancies currently exist, or terms will expire soon, on the Board of Planning and Zoning Appeals, Commission on the Status of Women, Planning Commission, Noise Control Hearing Board, Public Services Committee, Integrated Planning Office Advisory Board, Human Resources Agency Advisory Board, Community Services Agency Advisory Board, Fiscal and Justice Agency Advisory Board, Health Care Agency Advisory Board, Public Art Advisory Council, and Assessment Appeals Board.

A veteran of 23 years, Torbett has previously headed the Sheriff's Fraud Detail. The new post will include liason with Mexican law enforcement authorities.

La Mesa High Fire Prompts Board To Build

The Grossmont Union District School Board decided January 24 to allocate $92,000 to replace the temporary wood frame classroom buildings destroyed in a fire January 20.

The fire razed two of the four classroom buildings and severely damaged a third.

Dr. Robert King, Helix High School principal, said the Board decided to replace all four of the nearly 20 year old structures.

More than 45 firefighters battled the blaze from units from La Mesa, El Cajon, Santee, Lakeside, Lemon Grove, and Spring Valley. Five firemen were injured.

Dr. King said new "quality relocatable" type structures would be built within three months to replace the buildings destroyed.

Mental Health Class Will Show on KPBS

When California legislation substituted homes for state hospitals, thousands of mentally or developmentally disabled individuals found the opportunity to discover and enjoy a place in community life.

Nurses, who have the varied skills and technical knowledge necessary to give these disabled individuals the best mental health care possible, have been encouraged to expand their skills and knowledge into community mental health program development and leadership.

The series has been designed for students in health occupations studies, for staffs and administrators of care facilities, and for nurses developing community mental health programs or serving as leaders of teams of paraprofessional personnel.

The material in the course is carefully designed to impart basic techniques and to assist personnel with solutions to basic recurring problems.

The content of "Community Care" was developed by a team of home care administrators, social workers and educators, and the staff of the California State Department of Health.

"Community Care" consists of 26 half-hour programs, two per week in a 13-week series, beginning February 1, 1977.

This Week's RECIPE

Philadelphia Pork With Peanut Gravy

What is it Sen. Barry Goldwater uses instead of shaving cream? Peanut butter! No, it's not a reaction to the new occupant of the White House but says Barry, "If you don't mind smelling like a peanut for two or three day's it's a darn good shaving cream."

When Helen Hayes met her late husband Charles MacArthur at a party he passed her a compote of peanuts saying, "I wish they were emeralds." Years later after a trip abroad, MacArthur presented his wife a bag of emeralds and said, "Do you know, Helen, I sort of wish they were peanuts."

For something offbeat try Philadelphia Pork with Peanut gravy.

PHILADELPHIA PORK

3 pounds pork tenderloin—cut in ½ in. cubes
¾ teaspoon liquid smoke or hickory smoke salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper
1 tablespoon corander
1 tablespoon cumin
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
1 teaspoon msg
½ teaspoon ginger
¼ cup salad oil
1 tablespoon brown sugar
¼ cup soy sauce
¼ cup lime or lemon juice
4 cups cooked rice

Place meat cubes in glass or plastic container. Combine remaining ingredients and pour over meat. Cover and allow to marinate overnight, turning meat occasionally. Put meat on skewers over a pan to catch drippings, broil six to eight inches from heat for 15-20 minutes, basting and turning frequently. Serve over rice with peanut gravy.

PEANUT GRAVY

2 tablespoons pork drippings
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons creamy peanut butter

Use pork drippings to make gravy but substitute 2 tablespoons peanut butter per cup of liquid instead of flour. Makes one cup.

USDA Will Begin Watching Closely For Food Stamp Fraud

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is cracking down on retail stores who accept food stamps for ineligible items.

The Department is opening in Mid-February seven area offices designed to monitor compliance of the law.

Food Stamp Program Director Nancy Snyder said compliance officers will be working throughout the country to more effectively identify and penalize such violators.

"When retail stores sell ineligible items, they constitute a threat to the integrity of the food stamp program," said Snyder. "While we are making an effort to establish a more tightly monitored program through this branch, even one violation can affect a community."

The new compliance offices will be located in New York City; Washington, D.C.; Atlanta, Ga.; Memphis, Tenn.; Chicago, Ill.; Dallas, Tex.; and Oakland, Calif.

Suspected food stamp violations by authorized retailers will be reported to compliance officers by the food stamp field office. If stores are found selling ineligible items for food stamps, they face disqualification from the program.

If a compliance review finds documented evidence of criminal activity, the case will be turned over to the Department's Office of Investigation.

Recipients can legally buy any food or seeds and plants to grow food for their own use.

They cannot use food stamps to buy nonfood items such as soap, pet food, tobacco, and liquor.

There are some 17 million low-income participants in the food stamp program.

Mariners Back on Home Ice With Five on Injured List

The Mariners come home tonight — most of them.

Five of the team's top players were on the injured list early this week but three are expected to be souped up enough to play against the New England Whalers.

A change in starting time to 7:30 p.m. will give the walking-wounded an extra half-hour to cure themselves. All games in the future will start at 7:30.

The injured players and their condition are: Gary Veneruzzo — separated shoulder. Out three more weeks. John French — reinjury of separated shoulder. Out a month. Tony Cassolato — should be ready. Had splinters in his butt. Joe Noris — wrist injury. Possible starter tonight. Randy Legge — missed 5 games with a charley horse. May be able tonight.

The Mariners hope to rebound from a pair of losses at the hands of the Houston Aeros — 6-0 and 5-3. They will see several new faces on the Whalers team in the persons of veteran Dave Keon, John McKenzie and the rugged Carlson brothers, Jack and Steve.

The Winnipeg Jets play here Saturday for an important Western Division showdown. An added attraction is a Pizza Proposition. Each fan will receive a coupon good for a $2.40 pizza in a promotion sponsoredp by Square Pan Pizza. The coupon is valid only if the Mariners win the game.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

Get on your good walking shoes and casual togs folks, the clock and the calendar have moved us along to Andy's Tee Time.

The great and the yet-to-make-it are primed and ready for the adventure and opportunity of chasing ol' Mister Par in the 10th annual Andy Williams-San Diego Open.

A lot of old faces will be grimacing behind forgetful putters and wayward drivers. But it won't all be nostalia time. There'll be some young and unlined faces grimacing just as thoughtfully behind similarly missed shots.

And you and I and all the rest of the lucky folks that live in lovely San Diego will be able to walk the course and see the best in the swinging trade birdie, par and very humanly bogey their way around Torrey Pines.

As it happens, the 1977 AWSDO is also the Silver Anniversary of the original San Diego Open and all the winners of previous tilts have been invited back to relive their moment in the warm San Diego sunshine.

Not all could make it, more's the pity. There's a whole world of golf fans who would love the fire and fierce independence of some of the old timers who came and went before professional golf watching became respectful.

A case in point: Tommy Bolt. He was a man of considerable charm and outrageous temper. A number of rules that concern themselves with the conduct of tournament players today are there because of "Terrible Tommy."

He had the courage to spit in the wind and dare that force to retaliate. He was to his day what Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Lee Trevino came to be later on.

Tommy breathed the fire of competition and stories, both true and good-enough-to-be-true abound in recantments around the 19th holes of the world. He was loved by his many friends and considered "colorful" by others.

Most Tommy Bolt stories can not be related in a family newspaper, but one of those "good-enough-to-be-true" tales passes muster for clean reading.

It seems Tommy once drove into a fairly tall rough on a long par-5 hole. He stepped hard on the growth behind his ball while studying the shot. He walked around a bit a stepped hard behind the ball again. And again. After a number of such passes, he asked his caddie, "What do you think? Is this a 3-wood?"

"Not yet," the caddy is supposed to have answered.

Any tournament would be enriched by his presence, but, as all of eventually discover, Tommy Bold found that getting long in the tooth was contagious. He doesn't play much any more, and the golf world is poorer for it.

A number of past winners have signed in however and most of them are still contenders to any crown for which they tee up.

Arnold Palmer, who won a pair of San Diego Opens, decided to enter after playing well with former President Jerry Ford in the Crosby doings last week. Billy Casper, Gene Littler and Art Wall join Arnie in the AWSDO in anniversary of old Open winnings.

The best way to follow the happenings at Torrey Pines, according to head pro and resident gentleman Willie Wansa, is to walk some and pick a likely spot and watch the others walk.

"Good walking shoes and a spectators folding seat are important things to remember," smiled Willie. "It will add a great deal to your enjoyment if you buy a daily pairing sheet. Then, after you walk for a while, you can rest and watch following foursomes as they play through."

A good pair of field glasses would also help. Not only can you see tote boards way down the fair way, but from just behind the tee of the sixth hole on the North Course, you can get a clear shot of Black's Beach.

Cameras are not allowed except for professional photographers with proper credentials.

Most pros warm up before they play, but turn to heavy practice after the day's round is over. If the gallery around your favorite proves to be too thick and heavy, why not pick up a lesser known player and then settle in at the driving range at day's end and watch your hero work?

And think what the folks in Buffalo would give to be in your shoes.

Popular PR Exec Quits Chargers

The San Diego Chargers Monday announced the resignation of Jerry Wynn, who served the club as director of public relations since 1965.

Chargers president Eugene V. Klein said, "I regret to accept the resignation of Jerry Wynn. He was invaluable to the Chargers and he will be missed. I wish him every success."

Wynn said he is leaving the Chargers "with no regrets and fine memories. After 12 years, it is time to move on to new endeavors."

He was extremely popular with the media.

During Wynn's tenure, the Chargers won national recognition for the best press box and best game program. Wynn was chosen to work for the National Football League in seven Super Bowl and two Pro Bowl games. He was president of the American Football League public relations directors in 1967.

In the Sporting News of Dec. 4, 1976, columnist John Steadman wrote: "It is a compliment to Jerry Wynn, the highly personable and professional public relations director, that the San Diego Chargers offer more hospitality than any press box we've ever visited."

Fingers vs. Jones In Amn. Airlines Golf Tournament

PHOENIX — The newest San Diego Padre — relief pitcher Rollie Fingers — won't have to wait until spring training to meet teammate hurler Randy Jones. He'll do it at the American Airlines Golf Classic January 28-30 at McCormick Ranch Country Club in Scottsdale.

Tournament chairman Randall Malin said Fingers will be paired with Houston quarterback Dan Pastorini in the 54-hole, football-baseball partner tournament, which starts Friday and ends Sunday.

Cy Young Award pitcher Jones will be paired with Charger quarterback Dan Fouts and represent San Diego in the city team championship. Jones was assigned a 12 handicap and Fouts an 18 — the maximum allowed in this better ball, net competition. Fingers' handcap hasn't been determined.

Two former Chargers, Deacon Jones and Bobby Douglass, will also compete. Jones is paired with former Cubs great Ron Santo and Douglass with Jimmy Wynn, former Dodger now with the Yankees.

New York's Craig Nettles, Yankee slugger from San Diego, and Bob Tucker, Giants tight end, are defending champions.

Other top pairings include Jim Palmer-Bert Jones, Willie Mays-Ray Nitschke, Joe DiMaggio-Otto Graham, Thurman Munson-Joe Ferguson, Merlin Olsen-Steve Garvey, Don Sutton-Jim Hart, Bobby Murcer-Phil Villapiano and the glamour twosome, Broadway Joe Namath and Reggie Jackson.

The 64 athletes — 32 teams —represent 36 football and baseball franchises in 21 cities, three states and one section (New England). The athletes will act as pros for three amateur partners in an 18-hole pro-am on Thursday. Proceeds benefit the Boys Clubs of Scottsdale.

'Cosell Day' Golf Aids Needy Young

PALM SPRINGS — PGA champion Dave Stockton of Westlake Village heads the field of pros in Howard Cosell's Day With The All-Americans Tournament February 8 at Canyon Country Club, announced general chairman William Fugazy.

The former USC All-American is a two-time PGA champ. He beat Arnold Palmer and Bob Murphy for his first title in 1970 and last year nipped Ray Floyd and Don January by a single stroke at Congressional CC.

"I'm very pleased to be associated with Howard, Bill Fugazy and the All-American Collegiate Golf Foundation Scholarship Fund because of the outstanding work they do for young scholars," said Stockton.

"They're already raised enough money to send 34 high school graduates to college, bright kids who couldn't have done it without financial assistance."

Another PGA champ, Stanford's Bob Rosburg, upcoming star George Burns (Maryland), Lanny Wadkins (Wake Forest), Ron Cerrudo (San Jose State), Jim Wiechers (Santa Clara, Joe Inman Jr. (Wake Forest), Mac McLendon (LSU) and defending champion Bob Murphy (Florida) are among early entries.

Entry fee is a tax deductible $1,000. Proceeds benefit the Tony Lema, Jackie Robinson, Frank Sinatra and Gary Sanders Scholarship Funds.

Entry forms may be obtained by telephoning Helen Nicolaidis at (714) 325-5531 or Jack Quigley and Jack Koennecker at the Canyon Country Club, (714) 327-1321.

Runners Quarrie, Boit Due Sign for Jack in Box Games

Don Quarrie, Olympic Games gold medalist at 200 meters, has sent in his entry for the annual Jack in the Box Indoor Games.

The meet is set Friday night, February 18, at the San Diego Sports Arena.

Quarrie, a Jamaica native who attended USC, also finished second in the Olympic 100, losing by only 2/100 of a second to Hasely Crawford.

The quiet Quarrie also is a fine indoor runner, holding the JiB record for 60 at 5.9, only 1/10 off the world mark.

Chairman Al Franken has scheduled a sprint series at both 50 and 60 yards at the Arena, thereby enabling the track fans to see the sprint greats twice instead of the usual once.

Boit Signs

Franken also said that Mike Boit of Kenya, the man who might have won a gold medal if he hadn't been deprived a chance to run, will compete.

Boit was one of the co-favorites to win the 800 at the Montreal Olympics only to be denied a chance to compete when Kenya joined other black African nations in withdrawing from the Olympics.

The veteran Kenyan indicated how fit he was by running within 1/10 of a second of the world 800-meter record a few days after Montreal.

Boit finished third in the 800 at Munich and fourth in the 1500 the same year. Mike is expected to threaten the world record for the 1000 indoors on the super-fast Arena boards.

Globetrotters At Arena S.D. Friday Night

The Harlem Globetrotters will take on their perennial rivals, the New Jersey Reds, tomorrow night in an 8 p.m. Sports Arena appearance sponsored by the San Diego chapter of the Society of Professional Journalists, Sigma Delta Chi. Proceeds aid journalism students.

In addition to the on-court antics of the Globetrotters, fans will see an all-star variety show including professional table tennis players Robert Ashley and Greg Plakos.

Since their first game in January of 1927, the Trotters have won the almost 98 per cent of some 13,000 games played and have performed before more people than any sports team in history.

The comedy which plays a large role in any Globetrotter game came about inadvertently. One night one of the players began dribbling the ball while the others stood by and watched. This gave the team a short rest while still on the court.

To their amazement, fans stood and cheered. Shortly thereafter, Trotter center Inman Jackson took the ball and holding it in one hand, taunted the opposing center. He then rolled the ball down his arm and passed off to another player. Again, the fans loved it.

From then on, the Globetrotters included the fancy ballhandling and trick shot artistry in every game.

Player-coach Meadowlark Lemon says, "We play basketball, good basketball. Sure we play for laughs, but the basketball comes first. Without it the comedy doesn't come off."

Electricity costs more when everyone uses it at once.

This time of year, more people use more electricity between 4 p.m. and 9 p.m. than during any other time of day. A lot more. SDG&E calls it the "peak demand" period and it's important because it can affect your electric bill.

The peak peaks because everyone in the family seems to find more ways to use electricity around dinnertime. The peak costs money because SDG&E must be prepared to meet everyone's needs at once. Usually, this means using less efficient generating facilities.

SDG&E wants you to know about some of the things we will be doing to level off peak demand. Because these efforts can help to hold down your future electric bills.

Right now, SDG&E is working with very large commercial and industrial electricity users, trying to help them shift some of their uses to less busy times of the day or night. Since business, industry and government account for about two-thirds of SDG&E's total electric demand, this could be a big help.

However, most of the demand between 4 p.m. and 9 p.m. comes from residential users. Like you. For this reason, SDG&E will soon begin asking you to help level electricity peaks too.

You can help by doing things that require electricity at times other than around dinnertime. Things like washing and drying clothes, running the dishwasher, baking and ironing. And be especially sensitive to unnecessary lights and unwatched TV sets.

Holding down peak demand can do a lot to hold down electricity costs. SDG&E will be telling you more about how to do it in the months ahead.

Ticket Sales Blossom As Padres Near 5,000

It may be a little hard to believe, but with still 77 days remaining before the San Diego Padres home opener for the 1977 National League season, the club is only about 450 short of a club record for season ticket sales.

Through Friday the grand total of sales to date stood at 4,383 compared to last year's record figure of 4,839. That puts the Padres just 456 shy of the club total sales record set in 1976.

Broken down thus far, the Padres have sold 1,238 full-season packages and 3,145 mini-season packages. Not long ago that would have been a good single day's attendance.

Comparing all of these totals to this same time a year ago, the Padres are running at an amazing pace of 1,376 tickes ahead. A year ago the overall total was 3,007 while the full-season count was 885 (up 353 this season) with the mini-season total being 2,122 (up a whopping 1,023 this year).

This week's figure, by the way, represents a sales total of just last week alone of 1,088 as the Padres count on Friday, January 14 had stood at 3,751.

Looking at some key dates for the Padres with an eye towards further ticket sales, the club will open spring training on Sunday, February 27 with pitchers and catchers going in early; the full squad will begin workouts on March 1; the first exhibition game is set for March 8; the season opener will be on April 6 in Cincinnati and the the Padres home opener will come on Tuesday, April 12 against the San Francisco Giants.

Griffs Due Home For Cage Game

Grossmont College's basketball team has its back to the wall this week when the Griffins travel to Santa Ana College Wednesday before returning home to host San Diego Mesa College Saturday night. Both games start at 7:30.

The Griffins' South Coast Conference record slipped to 1-2 last Saturday as Grossmont bowed to visiting Fullerton College, 69-61, the second time the Griffins had lost a SCC game at home. Grossmont's only win came on the road, 75-61, over Mt. San Antonio College.

Santa Ana leads the SCC with wins over Mt. SAC (83-68), San Diego Mesa (89-53) and Orange Coast (98-79). The Dons are the favorites to win this year's conference crown after having tied Mt. SAC for that honor a year ago.

I-5, 15 Ramps Close

Motorists driving in the vicinity of the Interstate 5 and Route 15 interchange in south San Diego may have to change their travel pattern for a few months, according to a CALTRANS official.

Tom Drane, District Construction Engineer, said the southbound Interstate 5 off-ramp to Route 15 northbound is now closed for approximately three months.

During the closure, motorists are advised to exit I-5 at 28th st. and take National ave. to Route 15 northbound.

In addition, the Route 15 northbound on-ramp from Main st. will also be closed. Motorists normally exiting Main st. at this location should take Rigel-35th sts. and turn left on National or Oceanview blvd. to the northbound Route 15 on-ramp.

These ramps are being closed to allow for the reconstruction of the Routes 5 and 15 interchange.

State Income Tax Refunds Readied

SACRAMENTO — State income tax returns now being pondered and filed by millions of Californians will result in 5.8 million refunds totaling about $800 million, State Controller Kenneth Cory said this week.

Early-bird returns already are trickling in to the Franchise Tax Board and as soon as they can be processed we will start issuing refund checks," Cory said. "Needless to say, those who file the earliest returns get the earliest refunds."

Last year more than $636 million in refunds was shared by over 5.6 million State income taxpayers.

"The most typical refund check last year was for $75 and it appears that will be true again this year," Cory said. "Of course, some will be larger and some smaller than $75."

Most of the refunds will be made to persons whose State income taxes were withheld from wages. Other refunds will go to non-withholding taxpayers who overpaid on tax estimates, and to people who occupy rented homes but do not have income tax liability matching or exceeding their Renters Tax Credit.

The Franchise Tax Board expects about 8.6 million State income tax returns to be filed during 1977 as compared to 8.4 million filed last year.

More than 8.1 million of the returns are expected to arrive before the April 15 filing deadline.

Less is More

Raising Taxes While Not Raising Taxes

By Assemblyman Bill Craven

"Take some more tea," said the March Hare to Alice.
"I've had nothing yet," Alice replied in an offended tone: "So I can't take more."
"You mean you can't take less," said the Hatter: "It's very easy to take more than nothing."
Alice's Adventures in Wonderland

"No new taxes. Not this year, next year, or in the foreseeable future." That's Governor Brown's recent prediction along with promises for property tax relief in 1977. If it were true, the Governor's concern for fiscal conservationism would benefit California taxpayers and put an end to a brewing revolt.

Unfortunately, it is not true.

Californians will pay more than ever this coming year for the costs of government. The Governor's budget proposal is 13.5 percent above last year's version, at least double any allowance for inflation. His budgets have now increased state government spending by 42 percent, while inflation has increased only 25 per cent.

His offering of $500 million in property tax relief this year leaves a big gap because local government spending will increase $1 billion at the same time — leaving the difference to be financed largely by property taxes.

The Governor's statements are then a characteristic exercise in confusion. Taxpayers are certain to eventually question his credibility, particularly if they stop to add up their own outlays for taxes next year. As budgets continue to skyrocket, then how can the Governor and local government officials say they are not raising taxes?

If they were completely truthful, they would say they are not raising the tax rates. But in effect, new taxes are being collected as higher priced goods produce greater returns for the state sales tax. New taxes are being collected as wage earner cost-of-living increases put them in higher state income tax brackets. And new taxes are being collected as zooming assessments on property produce a flood of new revenues for local government.

It is this inflation-generated "bonus" for the state treasury that the Governor suggests should be used to underwrite property tax relief. Nowhere is there any hint that tax rates should be adjusted to compensate for the inflationary spiral or that government should put a lid on real spending growth.

Liberal programs with big price tags are moving ahead unrestrained. Not surprisingly, Democratic legislators and state employees are complaining the budget contains too little spending for even more programs

California taxpayers, encouraged to "lower their expectations" for the past two years, should now raise their expectations of Governor Brown and insist on real tax relief and reform of government financing — not an outrageous game of confusing words that clearly offers no relief at all.

Van Deerlin Names Four For Service Academies Try

Cynthia Eagle, 17, a senior at Mt. Miguel High School, wants to follow in the footsteps of her brother, Kevin, at a national service academy. The difference is that while Kevin is a Naval Academy graduate, Cynthia is trying for West Point.

Cynthia is one of five young persons — and the only woman — from the Spring Valley-Lemon Grove area nominated by Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin to vie for appointments to the national service acadamies.

Cynthia resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Eagle, at 8900 Tyler street, Spring Valley. Her brother, a Van Deerlin appointee, graduated from Annapolis last June. The father was also a career Navy man, having retired as a chief petty officer after 20 years of service.

Two Spring Valley men were named by Van Deerlin to compete for openings at the Naval Academy. They are Ernie M. Ameng, of 839 Ramona ave., and Bernerson Kile Little, of 1035 Worthington st.

Douglas A. Ford, of 1433 El Prado ave., Lemon Grove, and Donald L. Kleinhen II, of 7147 San Miguel ave., Lemon Grove, were nominated for the Air Force Academy.

In all, Van Deerlin selected 39 young constituents to vie for a total of four vacancies at the national service schools. Final selections will be made on the basis of scores achieved on a battery of tests administered by the academies themselves.

He is a member of the board of directors of the San Diego Lions club and vice president of the Calif.-Arizona and Nevada Chapter of the American Academy of Professional Law Enforcement. He is chairman of the Professionalization and Education Committee of the Police Officers Research Assn. of California.

"When I first decided to run there seemed to be a negative makeup of the school board candidates. As a long-time resident with three youngsters attending LG schools, I felt that I could offer a more positive approach to local problems. Since then, there seems to have been a change of spirit among the governors. But I had been encouraged by some residents who have confidence in my abilities to represent them in the district's operation.

Professionally, I am attuned to people problems and the solutions. My management, research and fiscal experience should be valued assets for board service.

Equally important, I would enjoy working with a board of sincere people who I have come to believe to have the interest of our youngsters at heart.

There are 10 candidates. Outside the incumbents I believe that I know better than any one of these how much research and study it takes to make board service meaningful for education.

Deadline Extended For Hospital Vacancy

The Grossmont Hospital Board of Directors extended until noon, February 7, the time for applicants to apply for a vacancy on the board.

The change was made following the advice of the board's attorney that the position should be posted for at least 15 days.

The action was taken at its meeting of January 17 when eight of the ten persons who have already applied for the position were interviewed.

The board plans to meet again on February 14 to interview any additional applicants and make a final decision on the appointment at its regular meeting on February 16.

Persons interested in the position are asked to file a statement of interest at the hospital's administration office.

Requirements include being a registered voter within the hospital district.

Nutrition Projects Lend A Hand To Our Seniors

The Lemon Grove-Spring Valley Nutrition Projects for Senior Citizens served 34,522 hot meals to over 480 different senior citizens in 1976.

The projects also provided 2,695 home delivered meals to ill or disabled seniors who were unable to attend one of the project sites.

Transportation to and from the project sites was provided to an average of 45 seniors per day.

The projects also provided the following social services: information and referral, health and welfare counseling, recreation, blood pressure checks, shopping assistance, and nutrition education.

Forty-five per cent of the man hours required to operate the nutrition centers in 1976 were donated by volunteers. The project accumulated 3,818 hours from over 100 different volunteers.

The Nutrition Projects are administered by the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley Nutrition Board, a non-profit corporation.

The board is composed of five community organizations: Lemon Grove-Spring Valley Soroptimist Club International, Lemon Grove Kiwanis International, Spring Valley Community Aide, the United Methodist Church of Lemon Grove, and the Lemon Grove United Church of Christ Congregational.

The Nutrition Projects are located at the Lemon Grove Community Center, 3146 School Lane and the Lord of Life Lutheran Church in Spring, 950 Luther Ave.

COUNCILMAN CANDIDATE —Lester C. Reese, 52, of 2270 Washington st. is a warehouse welding-sales employee at G. S. Parsons Co. in El Cajon. He and his wife (Jean) have lived here since 1965. Their two daughters are married and live elsewhere.

Reese retired from the Navy in 1965 after 20 years of service. He was a Chief Storekeeper. He has taken classes at Grossmont Community College and adult education classes in Material Management, Personnel Management and Purchasing Management. The couple are members of the Chapel of the Valley Methodist church.

He has a will-defined opinion of the contribution he can make to the proposed City of Lemon Grove:

"I would like to see a governing body that is closer to the people. I want to get away from County government and use the tax money that is now going to the county for our own specific needs.

"I feel that I have the personality to encourage people to talk to me and I will relay their comments on to the council.

"My supervisory experience in the Navy would serve the new city well.

"We must be greatly concerned with the money situation. We must not only get our tax money back for the benefit of the community but we must also make certain that we don't overspend.

"Running a city is like running a home. As a homeowner I keep my place attractive and pleasant and I do it within my income. I think a city should be operated the same way.

"I never ran for office before and my reason for becoming a candidate was because I felt the need for becoming involved in the future of my community.

"As a councilman I will attempt to involve the new city's residents, too."

WANTS COUNCIL POST — Wynell McReynolds, 49, a self-employed real estate broker, is a candidate for council of the proposed City of Lemon Grove has lived in Lemon Grove 29 years. She and her husband "Jerry", live at 7112 Rosemary lane. Jerry is a Lemon Grove Fire Dept. engineer. She is a member of the S.D. Board of Realtors and of the L.G. Chamber of Comment.

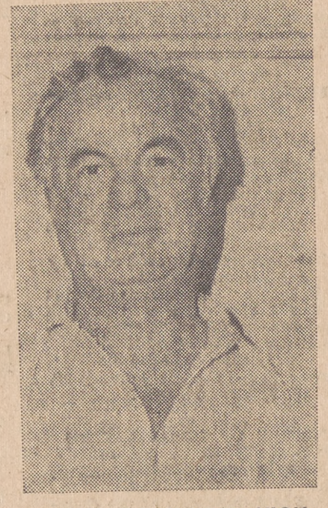
"I feel that I'm no better qualified than other candidates, but I reached a place in my life where I have the time and am financially able to put something back into the community that has been so good to Jerry and me.

"I successfuly raised four children, all of whom are now out on their own. Three of them still live here. I believe my contribution of sincerity and dedication would serve well the community we chose to be our home. With the children gone, I have the time now to make the commitment.

Those of us in the real estate profession can make a contribution in the continuing development of Lemon Grove as a city. There are many conflicts in real estate ordinances at the county level. As an experienced real estate person I would strive to overcome such problems as a lot split which cost $20 a few years ago and which now costs $2,000 and the conflict in allowable size of lots depending on whether you talk to the planning department or the building department.

"I think the community will thrive under a local government that keeps its ordinances from being in conflict."

The children who live locally are: Billy Joe Taylor, 7059 Rosemary ln., Gary Wayne Taylor, 8459 Adams st., and Frederick Lynn Taylor, 1452 Koe st.



LOOKS TOWARD HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT POST — Newell H. "Newt" Laskey, 52, of 9816 Bonnie Vista dr., La Mesa is a candidate for a post on the Grossmont Union High School District Board of Governors. He is a retired CIA Operations Officer who has been active recently in Common Cause, and Boys and Girls Aid Society. He is a member of the Assn. of Retired Intelligence Officers and of the World Affairs Council of S.D.

As a CIA agent, Laskey served 12 years overseas and 8 years in Washington. He was discharged in 1942 from the Marine Corps as a pilot 1st lieutenant. He holds a BS degree in Business Administration from the U. of San Francisco.

"I'm an independent," says Laskey. "My purpose in serving is to see that high school youngsters will be provided with the kind of education they will need to face the world.

"The issues that may exist between faculty and the board should be resolved in a thoughtful, reasonable atmosphere among persons who are as much concerned about the district's product as they are about the myriad matters that create current distractions.

"I think issues in the GUHS District have caused a polarization of teachers and the governing board. The problem stems from lack of communication.

"We must return harmony to the board. I believe I can be effective in bringing quality education to the students of my district. I think the curriculum can be developed to better serve students for their future.

"I believe youngsters should be taught conversational Spanish at a level where they can communicate with their neighbors to the south. Courses to widen students' horizons on world matters should be encouraged. In short, the product objective of the GUHS board should be the most intelligent, knowledgeable and aware young people in the world."

SEEKS SCHOOL BOARD JOB- Vicky Morgan, 36, of 3202 Vista ave., Lemon Grove, a teacher aide at Vista La Mesa school, has been a resident of the district for 10 years. She and her husband Lee, have four children, all of whom have come up through the L.G. School District.

During that time she has been active in youth and school affairs.

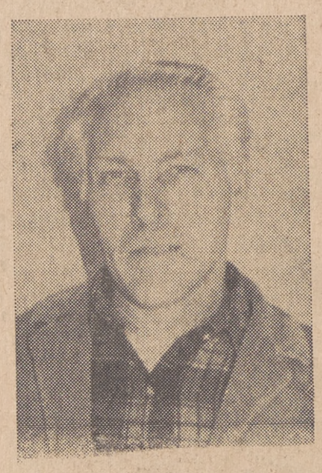
She has held various offices in VLM PTA and is immediate past president and the current treasurer of that group.

She has been chairman of the VLM School Goals Committee; Member, District Goals Committee; Manager, L.G. Bobby Sox and is now a member of the Music Parents Club Executive Board. She is on the VLM Early Childhood Education (ECE) Advisory Committee.

"I believe school board members should be interested in more than just the physical operation of the district. Having served as classroom volunteer and a teacher aide, I have observed some of the needs in the scholastic area.

"I would encourage a return to a stronger discipline than now exists.

"The purpose of any school at the elementary and junior high level is to educate the child in the basic academic skills and in the history and culture of the world, and to develop to the fullest his ability to think and reason responsibly. Therefore I would support a strong policy of basic education with other services and programs added only in relation to the willingness of the public to pay for them. But all of the supporters of schools should be made aware of the cost of these programs both in dollars and teacher-power before they are put into effect.



REPRESENTS HOMEOWNERS — Travis Metcalf, 41, of 2519 Washington st., Lemon Grove, is an electronics engineer at Naval Electronics Laboratory. He is working on the last three units of a master of science degree in electrical engineering at S.D. State U.

His interests, in addition to his work and studies, are model aircraft building, and remodeling his 35-year old home.

"Originally I thought the property owners would not be properly represented on the council. It appeared that the business and professional community was going to run the city.

"As a homeowner I can understand the problems of those who want to keep the Lemon Grove atmosphere intact. There are improvements that are desirable and these should be put on a list with certain Priorities. This will avert causing the council to come to the citizen for more money. We must live within our means.

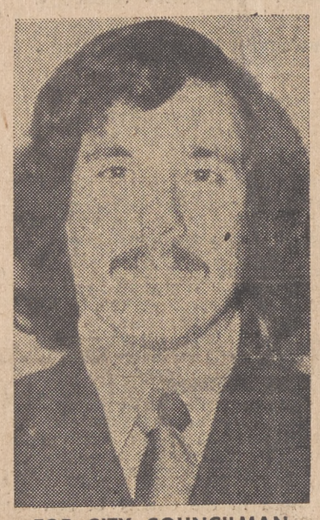
"I started out being opposed to incorporation because I feared that the homeowner would suffer. But I have come to understand the checks and balances that are provided by law. With sincere people on the council, I believe Lemon Grove will achieve its potential in things to be proud of for both business and residential elements.

"But there are some pitfalls that I would watch for as a councilman. We need to have ordinances that make sense. Some of the county's (building department's) do not. We need to budget our income carefully and spread improvements over several years rather than to try to do everything for everybody at the beginning.

"But most of all, we must listen to the homeowner. We should not let that sector suffer while the business community gets all of the help at the beginning.

"I guess you might say I want to be the representative of those who want to keep Lemon Grove as an attractive and happy place in which to live and raise a family."

Metcalf is married (Laura) and the couple have a married daughter in San Diego and a son, John, who attends UCSD.



FOR CITY COUNCILMAN— Brian Cochran, 20, and single, of 3280 Olive st., Lemon Grove, is a precision tool engraver for Pi Tape, on North ave., Lemon Grove. He is seeking a BA in Sociology at UCSD after which he will attend law school.

"I have long had an interest in government, economics and law. Not being a businessman, my interests would be toward the residents rather than the commercial sector.

"I am a life-long resident of Lemon Grove and went through the L.G. school system. I believe I can recognize the views of the people here, who like myself, want this to be the place to have and raise a family.

"I believe this can best be done under a city form of government."

CANDIDATE FOR COUNCIL —Emily Wallingford, 50, of 1934 Main st., Lemon Grove, is employed by Military Clubs at the 32nd St. Naval Station. She went through elementary school in Lemon Grove and was graduated from Grossmont High school.

She has lived in San Diego County 49 years, 46 of them in Lemon Grove. Mrs. Wallingford worked for the Sonka Brothers—one of the first stores in the community. She has since worked at the S.D. Gas and Electric Co. for seven years and for the Navy.

She is chairman of the L.G. Woman's Club's Vogue Section and has worked with children and seniors during her adult lifetime here. She has been a volunteer with the Senior Citizens Nutrition program since it started two years ago.

"I have worked over the years with all levels of our residents — the children, the homeowners and the senior citizens. As a councilwoman I would be sensitive and responsive to the needs of all the people at all age levels," she said.

"Election day is the time for decision of Lemon Grove voters. If incorporation fails we face the possibility of being squashed by our neighbors who want more tax base. I have been convinced that the City of Lemon Grove can support itself at the present level of services with the income coming to the city from revenues being collected by other agencies now," she said.

Mrs. Wallingford is married (husband, Richard) has a married daughter, a daughter in high school and two grandchildren.

711,220 in State Collect Benefits Under EDD Auspices

A mid-December survey in California shows 711,220 unemployed individuals were claiming jobless benefits under several programs administered by the State's Employment Development Department.

A total of 414,775 were claiming under the basic unemployment insurance program financed by California employers, which provides up to 26 weeks of benefits ranging from $30 to $104 weekly, based on previous earnings.

Another 90,748 were claiming under an extension of the basic program, which allows up to 13 more weeks of benefits during a period of high unemployment if the claimant is still looking for work.

A temporary federal program provides for two further extension of the benefits during the current period of exceptionally high employment for jobseekers who have exhausted their claims under the basic programs.

The total of 711,220 represents about 80 per cent of the unemployed in California. The The other 20 per cent are jobseekers who are not eligible for benefits. Most of these are either new entrants or reentrants into the labor force or workers who left their last job under circumstances that made them ineligible for benefits.

IRS Reminds Employers W-2 Forms Are Due

The Internal Revenue Service reminded employers that Monday, January 31, is the last day to have completed W-2 Forms in the hands of their employees.

IRS Publication 15, "Circular E—Employer's Tax Guide," available free from IRS District offices, contains additional information on the proper handling of W-2 Forms.

The numbers to call for assistance in preparing W-2 Forms are listed in the white pages of all local telephone directories under "U. S. Government, Internal Revenue Service, Federal Tax Information."

To request only the W-2 Forms or Publication 15, the phone numbers are 1 (800) 242-4585 or 1 (800) 242-4586.
